FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

DIMETIS APPOINTS NEW HEAD OF ENGINEERING AND PRODUCT MANAGEMENT

DIETZENBACH, GERMANY, August 17, 2018 – Dimetis GmbH (www.dimetis.com), a leading software developer of broadcast, media, and OSS automation solutions, announced the appointment of Mr. Joachim Voegele as head of engineering and product management. In his new role, Mr. Voegele will be responsible for all technical strategy and development of products, while managing engineering teams in Germany and India.

Mr. Voegele brings more than 30 years of leadership in engineering, product development and strategy in video, network, cloud, IoT and Big Data technologies. Prior, Mr. Voegele was driving leading edge software developments at Software AG, Swisscom and startups. As a Managing Consultant at Capgemini and Acentrix, he supported large cloud migration and automation projects for many enterprises. Mr. Voegele earned his degree at Technical University of Central Hessen studying electrical, communications and microprocessor engineering.

“Joachim brings three decades of innovation and engineering accomplishments to Dimetis,” said Thomas Will, CEO of Dimetis. “His successful track record of building and managing large technical teams through complex new product launches will ensure that Dimetis maintains its market position. I’m thrilled to add Joachim to our management team, and welcome his leadership and vision.”

“I am looking forward to working with the talented engineering teams in Germany and India to further Dimetis’s leadership in broadcasting and telecommunications,” added Mr. Voegele.
